*Economics Arkansas will pay the federal raffle tax due on behalf of the winner, not to exceed $15,000. The IRS requires raffle winners to pay the federal taxes on raffle winnings at the time of the award. The tax must be paid not only on the fair market value of the winnings, but also on the tax itself, therefore a grossed-up tax rate is applied. This may or may not be the actual amount you will owe on your federal taxes – please consult your tax advisor concerning your specific situation. Raffle tickets are not considered tax deductible by IRS regulation.
